LAHAINA IS ALIVE AGAIN

Triplet Roosevelt Dies--
New Industries--
Personal.

MAUI, October 20.—The October session of the 2nd Judicial Circuit Court, Hon. A. N. Kepoikai presiding, which began on the 11th, still continues. On Saturday, the 14th, the grand jury, W. A. Hardy of Keanae, foreman, reported 15 true bills. The trial jurors began work on Monday and during the week have transacted considerable court business.

Thursday morning the Paia criminal assault case began and will probably be finished today. On Saturday the trial of Alfred Douse for manslaughter is scheduled. Judge A. S. Humphreys of Honolulu is in Lahaina as the representative of the Japanese consul in the Douse case. Other lawyers in town are County Attorney D. H. Case, J. L. Coke and J. M. Vivas. Lahaina appears quite gay and lively nowadays, especially in the vicinity of the court house and Pioneer hotel.

NEW INDUSTRIES.

The articles of incorporation of the Kaupakalua Wine and Liquor Co. have been duly signed and forwarded to the territorial authorities, who by this time have probably granted the charter applied for. This is a Portuguese company formed for the purpose of raising grapes, pineapples and other fruits, manufacturing wine from grapes, manufacturing and distilling liquors from fruits and vegetables, to buying, selling, leasing and mortgaging real estate, etc. Capital stock, $5,000, with shares at $10 each.

The formation of this company has caused a little "boom" in real estate at Kokomo and Kaupakalua—quite a number of acres having been purchased recently at a good price.

Those interested in the company will plant sugar cane, pineapples and potatoes for the purpose of distilling them into "agua ardente"—or, what the Hawaiians might call, "okolehao".

The officers of the proposed company are J. M. Vivas, president; A. S. Medeiros, secretary; A. F. Tavares, treasurer, and J. V. Maciel and Manuel Jose together with the three officers as directors.

The pineapple industry is also "booming" somewhat. There's a deal on the carpet to purchase 800 acres near Haiku for the purpose of raising pines. At Pauwela, a company of Japanese, aided by the Haiku Fruit & Packing Co., have begun planting and have already an acre set out with young plants. There is also talk at this place of a company of Hawaiians starting a small plantation.

It should not be forgotten, now that pineapple culture is becoming successful and popular on Maui, that D. D. Baldwin of Haiku was the pioneer planter, who introduced the industry on this island about 16 years ago.

BABY ROOSEVELT DEAD.
Last Monday night, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Fernandez died at Kokomo after a short illness. The baby was named Theodore Roosevelt and was one of triplets born several weeks ago, the other two being known as George R. Carter and Edith Alice.

NEW TENNIS COURT.

The Paia plantation has just completed a sand and cinder tennis court at Paia near the mill for the use of its employees. It is a double court and one of the finest on the island. A tennis club will be formed at Paia next Tuesday.

The tennis tournament, gentlemen singles, of the Makawao Tennis Club, has been postponed owing to the fact it gets dark too quickly these autumn afternoons.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. P. M. Swamy, who has been the guest of Mr. J. B. Castle at her mountain residence on Haleakala's slope, returned to Honolulu by Wednesday's steamer.

Mrs. W. H. Bailey of Oakland is visiting her daughter, Mrs. B. V. Bazata of Paia.

The Missionary Society met at Mrs. D. C. Lindsay's, Paia, Tuesday afternoon.

The Hygeia company at Kahului has changed the manager of its Soda & Ice Works. The new man is from Koioa, Kauai.

SHIPPING.

MR. CRABTREE PREACHES

call it mountain suicide. The congenial clime and favoring elements that swathe the sides of Mauna Loa are inclined to do much for the brown mountain. Gladly they set about the task. Rain and sunshine prepared the soil and spread the fields with green up to the snow line. Mauna Loa is to become surpassingly beautiful. Was not Hawaii proud of her noblest son and showered upon him the advantages of her untold wealth? The fatal mistake of it all lay in the failure to take into account the fire that secretly consumed the vitals and stored up retaliation against the day of judgment. It little profits to veneer the outside, to make it glisten with polish and shine with ornament, if there be a neglect of the heart from which proceed the issues of life. One day there were the unmistakable signs of agitation and tumult; the hour struck, and the frightful fires burst forth from the depths. At one convulsion the crown of beauty was dashed from the head as if it were tinsel; forth shot the fires of retribution, down upon the lovely garments, gifts of indulgence, and they were as fuel to the scorching wrath. Deep into the exposed shoulders sunk the lash of avenging tongues of flame.

THE LESSONS.

"Why has the young man of promise so badly defeated the hopes of parents and friends, and given a shock to the normal and religious feelings of those associated with him in the Church of God? Why this trusted employee embezzle the funds entrusted to his sacred honor? It was the secret sin of gambling. Why this young man of high character, to whom mothers in confidence commit the company of their innocent daughters? How did it happen that he outraged that confidence and led down steps of death one who trusted him? It was pampered lust, fed continually by vile literature, base shows and obscene companionship. The lesson of self-destruction in the volcano is the young man's lesson. Permit no fire of appetite, or base purpose, to store up in secret the reservoirs of judgment, that must surely wreck the life. The good man out of his good treasure bringeth forth good things; and the evil man out of his evil treasure bringeth forth evil things. 'For out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh.'

"The final lesson is in a way connected with the first. That was a lesson of 'Might.' This is the terrible lesson of that might. Well, if that power be for us; awful beyond the power of expression,

A TRAINED NURSE

After Years of Experience, Advises Women in Regard to Their Health.

Mrs. Martha Pohlman of 55 Chester Avenue, Newark, N. J., who is a graduate Nurse from the Blockley Training School, at Philadelphia, and for six years Chief Clinic Nurse at the Philadelphia Hospital, writes the letter printed below. She has the advantage of personal experience, besides her professional education, and what she has to say may be absolutely relied upon.

Many other women are afflicted as she was. They can regain health in the same way. It is prudent to heed such advice from such a source.

Mrs. Pohlman writes: "I am firmly persuaded, after eight years of experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that it is the safest and best medicine for any suffering woman to use."

"Immediately after my marriage I found that my health began to fail me. I became weak and pale, with severe bearing-down pains, fearful backaches and frequent dizzy spells. The doctors prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I would bleed after eating and frequently become nauseated. I had an acrid discharge and pains down through my limbs so I could hardly walk. It was as bad a case of female trouble as I have ever known. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, however, cured me within four months. Since that time I have had occasion to recommend it to a number of patients suffering from all forms of female difficulties, and I find that while it is considered unprofessional to recommend a patent medicine, I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for I have found that it cures female ills, where all other medicine fails. It is a grand medicine for sick women."

Money cannot buy such testimony as this—merit alone can produce such results, and the ablest specialists now agree that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most universally successful remedy for all female diseases known to medicine.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles.

The needless suffering of women from diseases peculiar to their sex is terrible to see. The money which they pay to doctors who do not help them is an enormous waste. The pain is cured and the money is saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Experience has proved this.

It is well for women who are ill to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. In her great experience, which covers many years, she has probably had to deal with dozens of cases just like yours. Her advice is free and confidential.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

if it be against us.

"Late in the afternoon we mounted our little horses and began the one great journey. Here lay the black empty lava lake nine miles in circumference, and over yonder on its farther floor its pit, smoking like a monster furnace. We went down the narrow trail, zigzag and steep, till, four hundred and fifty feet below, we reached the level of the lava bed. The dim trail leads over the lava toward the pit. Huge fissures are bridged, short angles are turned, defiles are threaded and ascents climbed. Once, and recently, where we were traveling was a seething caldron on whose surface streams of lava disported themselves in cataracts, in eddies, in writhing, interwoven forms resembling boa constrictors and pythons and sea monsters in a hopeless tangle. Here are the caves, haunts of fire fiends, and the huge lava smokestacks of furnaces whose fire died years ago.

"We left our horses at the lava caravansary and walked over to Halemaumau, climbed its rim and looked down into it by the light of day. The great sight was reserved for the night time. Our guide led us to a convenient steam crack. Here he threw in a pine plank, which was immediately ignited. Above it he placed a coffee pot, and before we could spread the lunch, the coffee was lifting the lid. Later, by the light of lanterns, we went back to the pit. Halemaumau, the inner crater, has varied in depths according to the activity of the fire energy it contains. In February last it was eleven hundred feet to the bottom; when I saw it the depth was seven hundred and fifty feet. Standing there, looking at the glowing fires that spread their shining circle upon the abysmal floor, the feeling of the terrible overcame me. All was silent save the continual hissing of lava cones, resembling so nearly the beating of the surf upon a rocky coast.

A LAVA COVERING.

"A covering of cooled lava hid most of the stream, fed regularly from two cones very active. Here and there the coat was punctured, displaying the molten stream beneath. These walls, which plunge sheer to the very depths, are hidden in the darkness. Now the cones explode, and melted stone is thrown a hundred feet into the air. The increased output of lava is building up the stream, and it is thumping against the crust, and as it breaks through a brilliant ribbon of fiery gold shoots across the floor for sixty feet. Impressive in itself, you turn to trace the dim outline of the walls to the very top where you stand. Not illuminated brightly, but the effect was all the more tremendous, because of the shadows that fought with the light in the higher sections. A visitor, who must have seen it as I saw it that dark night, said to his companion: 'Sir, this is the very gate of hell.' It is the lesson of the power terrible.

"I could not help thinking that if imagery had to be chosen to represent the final destination of a soul set to do evil and only evil, the effect, which would drive back the soul from the plunge of death, must be couched in the terms of Halemaumau, 'the house of eternal burning.'

"And the devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone * * * and they shall be tormented forever and ever."

"There shall the King that sits upon his throne of glory say to them upon the left hand: 'Depart from me, ye accursed, into the eternal fire which is prepared for the devil and his angels.'

"Who shall render to every man according to his deeds * * * but unto them that are factious and obey not the truth * * * indignation and wrath, tribulation and anguish upon every soul that worketh evil."

"We grow very sentimental and quickly cross the border line of safety. We say, 'God is love,' which is true. Then we add to this, 'and nothing else.' One high in authority contradicts, and says, 'Our God is a consuming fire.'

"We do not depend on the Bible alone to teach us that there are two ways, the way of life and the way of death; that the wages of sin is death and the free gift of God is eternal life.

"How great is the question of destiny, and how profound the second one: 'Whither do my footsteps tend?'"
